

SimonSharville GraphicDesign

Magazine design

"An experienced, London-based graphic designer with a flair for typographic design, illustration and layout."

For further samples of my work please visit www.simonsharville.co.uk

Transmitter Magazine

Transmitter is a small local magazine concentrating on the Crystal Palace area, focusing on local trade, events, people and history. Now in its seventh year it has a strong following in the area. Wanting to be better than other local mags and with a lot of creative people in the area it has some great writing and interesting articles. My job is to put them together and make them look good.

Partnerships Bulletin

Plus
PPP International
& Global Outlook
p32

WWW.PARTNERSHIPSBUCKET.COM

SPECIAL ISSUE
HOME TIME
Tackling the housing crisis

SPENDING REVIEW
How the government's spending plans affect infrastructure p18

ANDY ROSE
PCA chief looks to the future of housing p24

INSIDE:
Investor concerns over the PFI shareholder agreement p10

ROADS
Changes at the Highways Agency could bring huge investment opportunities p22

ARMITT
Can Sir John's review really take politics out of the equation? p10

LEPs
Big challenges ahead for all-round bodies p22

CONTRACT REVIEWS
New efforts to find savings in long contracts could put deals under a microscope

Partnerships Bulletin

Plus
PPP International
& Global Outlook
p30

WWW.PARTNERSHIPSBUCKET.COM

STITCHED UP
Are the UK's different private finance models good value for money?

Partnerships Bulletin

Plus
PPP International
& Global Outlook
p28

WWW.PARTNERSHIPSBUCKET.COM

AT THE CROSSROADS
Satisfaction guaranteed? Government underlining still faces plenty of questions

Partnerships Bulletin

A subscription based specialist business magazine for the Public Private Partnerships market. The brief was to create a new design with a structured and contemporary feel while keeping it serious and business like.

BLOWING

THE MONEY

The Oilstream Transmission regime has been attacked by Afre. With Round 3 now approaching, James Kenny investigates the initiative's value for money

HOW TO SPARK PRIVATE INVESTMENT IN UK AFFORDABLE AND SOCIAL HOUSING

At a roundtable event in May hosted by law firm Sparke Strevens, a range of industry experts discussed how private investment can be unlocked for a new wave of housing.

THE HACKS WORK
How can the private sector be encouraged to invest in affordable housing? The answer lies in the government's new 'hacks' scheme.

HOME TIME

We want to invest where we can make a social impact

PROPERTY QUESTION
Drawing down a £100m fund to build affordable housing, the government is looking for private sector partners. But how can it ensure that the investment is made in the right places?

AT THE CROSSROADS

Gerry Haltham, adviser to the Welsh Assembly Government's Finance Minister, talks to Paul Jarvis about the Principality's plans

GLOBAL OUTLOOK
Partnerships Bulletin's sister publication, PPP Bulletin International, provides a run-down of the latest deals and news affecting the international market over the last month. For more information on these and other deals, visit ppbulletin.com